SIXTH INF.'s 2d and 3d BGs have logged over 10 years of historical service as the only major U.S. Army combat troops on duty in Berlin's "Divided City." In addition to its protectorate role, Berlin Command's 6th Inf. goes out in joint maneuvers with the French and British in the Grunewald; undergoes specialized training in riot control (as shown in photo on right); stages numerous parades for high-ranking officers and VIPs. Here, in the upper photo, the 6th Inf. and the British are shown in a guard ceremony outside Spandau Prison. The Spandau guard is one of the last remaining symbols of occupation in which all of the four powers cooperate. The British take over responsibility for the huge prison every four months from the 6th Inf. guard.
