The above marriage record was not obtained from ancestry.com. When he was alive, Brian Joseph Oster had written tons of family history stories, took census data from cemeteries, transcribed vital records from various Missouri counties and his work was of such professionalism, well, you can see the detail in the above marriage record. He transcribed volumes of marriage record books in no less than 5 counties of Missouri from their inception all the way into the 1900's. To call him an avid genealogists does him an injustice since his work is of such professional and superior quality as to render all other databases such as ancestry.com as mediocre. So, my reader, this information you have, has come to you because Brian and others like him paid the price to obtain it. Thank you Brian, it is dedicated people like you who stand on the shoulders of giants in the genealogical genre. Floyd Thomas Pratt F.H.C., M.A.G.I. 2019
